HUNTSVILLE, ON – Huntsville Hospital Foundation is pleased to announce that Meaghan Byrnes, our talented Director of Philanthropy, has received a very prestigious award from the Association for Healthcare Philanthropy (AHP). The award is the AHP’s 40 under 40 Class of 2024. This program recognizes young leaders who are making a significant difference in healthcare philanthropy. They have demonstrated impressive career achievements, deep community involvement, and outstanding leadership in all they do. You can view Meaghan and other award recipients here: 2024 Winners \(ahp.org\)

Our staff and board are proud of Meaghan for receiving this award, proud and not surprised! “Meaghan has been with us for just over 2 years and has already had an impact in shaping the future of Philanthropy in Huntsville and surrounding areas, and our future includes raising millions of dollars for a new hospital”, explains Katherine Craine, CEO of Huntsville Hospital Foundation.

Please join us in sending our congratulations to Meaghan!
